KAISER SAYS
LEAHY BACKED
CARGO PLANESNOTE TO ROOSEVELT
LANDED ORDER FOR
BABY FLAT TOPS

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, July 29 (P)—Henry J. Kaiser testified today that Admiral D. Leahy, presidential chief of staff, flashed the go-ahead on a multi-million dollar wartime contract for 200-ton cargo planes which never got into the air to thwart the submarine menace.

He also said that he obtained a wartime order for 100 small aircraft carriers by sending a note to President Roosevelt after the Navy turned thumbs down on the contract. Kaiser declared that these baby flat tops "practically won the war."

Kaiser told the Senate War Investigating Committee that he did not seek White House intervention to obtain the cargo plane contract in 1942, but that War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson asked him to get Leahy's approval.

Leahy was chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt and served in the same capacity to President Truman. The senate committee is investigating $40,000,000 worth of contracts awarded to Kaiser, west coast industrialist, and Howard Hughes, Hollywood millionaire and plane designer.

Not Finished Yet
Kaiser said he had no recollection of sending a note to Mr. Roosevelt in connection with the contract for huge flying boats, such as the one he sent to get the baby flat top order.

He also testified that his efforts to put these big planes into mass production to block the U-Boat campaign met with a "mysterious kiss-off."

The contract that Kaiser and Hughes received was for three flying boats, but this later was cut to one. It still is under construction and thus far has cost the government $18,000,000.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the subcommittee conducting the investigation, asked Kaiser how he got the contract despite opposition of the Army, Navy and other war agencies.

Kaiser replied that Nelson, Admiral John H. Towers and Robert Lovett then assistant secretary of war, all had backed the proposal to build huge cargo planes.

Chad F. Calhoun, a Kaiser company vice president, volunteered that Kaiser was assured of a WPB "letter of intent" leading to a contract after conferring less than 15 minutes at the White House with Leahy.

"You wanted to have White House backing?" Ferguson inquired.

Calhoun commented that Leahy was an important military personality—"at last he was all dressed up in a uniform."

Kaiser and Calhoun detailed how they checked with Jesse Jones, then Secretary of Commerce and head of the government's wartime defense plant corporation, about Howard Hughes.

Production Resumed
At Remington-Rand

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 29 (P)—Remington Rand Corp. resumed production here today for the first time since June 23 after 400 CIO United Electrical Workers returned to work.

An eight cent an hour wage increase plus six paid annual holidays ended a strike that was punctuated by picket line skirmishes that brought out the Michigan State police last week.

Reprisals Feared
As British Hang 3
Jews In Holy Land

BY EDWARD CURTIS
Jerusalem, July 29 (P)—Rumors-ridden Palestine waited tensely tonight to see whether Irgun Zvai Leumi would carry out the threatened execution of two British army sergeants in reprisal for the hangings of three members of the Jewish underground.

As the day passed, both the British military and the Palestine police became more optimistic over chances that the sergeants, Mervyn Paice and Clifford Martin, might still be found alive. They were kidnapped July 12 at Natanya and have been held as hostages by Irgun.

However, renewed appeals from Jewish groups—including Vaad Leumi, the Jewish National Council—that the two be liberated were taken in some quarters to reflect Jewish fears that the sergeants might meet the same fate at the hands of the underground as the three Irgun members who went to the gallows early today for participation in an attack on Acre prison May 4.

One military source said there was a feeling in army circles that if Irgun intended to execute the two sergeants it would have been so immediately after the hanging of the three Jews.

"Irgun would have executed the men in a spectacular fashion so as to gain a maximum of publicity," this informant said. "There also is a belief by army officials that Irgun's execution of the two now would be regarded as cold blooded killings by many of the neutral members of the Jewish community, and especially in America."

However, growing fear was reported from the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv that Irgun would execute the two sergeants in reprisal for the hanging of the three underground members, Meir Nakar, Jacob Weiss and Avshalom Habib. One report circulated in Tel Aviv was that the retaliation had been timed by Irgun "to coincide 24 hours to the minute after the terrorists were hanged." Another report was that Irgun was delaying the execution of the sergeants "because of difficulty in finding a Christian chaplain."

SLAVERY CASE
PENALTY EASEDWoman Fined Must Pay Maid $6000 For Long Servitude

San Diego, Calif., July 29 (P)—Mrs. Alfred Wesley Ingalls was fined $2,500 in federal court here today and placed on five years probation with a provision she make restitution to Negro maid Dora Jones, whom she was convicted of enslaving.

Judge Jacob Weinberger suspended a three year prison sentence in granting the probation.

He accepted a recommendation of U. S. Deputy Attorney Eugene A. Tolin that Dora Jones, whom Mrs. Ingalls was convicted July 19 of enslaving, be reimbursed in the amount of $6,000.

Tolin said the Negro woman, whom he described as "not holding ill will," had accepted the $6,000 as fair. She is now in St. Louis, Mo., with a brother.

The 62-year-old Mrs. Ingalls, formerly prominent in social and political activities in Lynn and Boston, Mass., wept during the entire court session.

Other terms of the probation included: Continued treatment by a psychiatrist, who examined Mrs. Ingalls during her period in jail and reported her on the verge of a nervous collapse.

Restraint from retaliation "either direct or indirect" against witnesses who testified for the government during the trial. These included Mrs. Ingalls' two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Castendyk of Chicago and Mrs. Helen Roberts of Berkeley, Calif.

Burning Bed Gets Shower But Tired
Occupant Sleeps On

Bethon Harbor, Mich., July 29 (P)—Firemen marveled today at the tenacious slumber of an unidentified man who slept through fire and water.

Responding to an alarm, they found the man asleep on a smoldering bed. They shook him, kicked him, hollered at him. He snored on.

Whereupon firemen doused the bed and its occupants with water and extinguished the blaze. The man opened one eye partially, muttered "cut it out" in aggravated tones, then rolled over on the sodden and charred bed and continued his snooze.

Firemen were so amazed, they said, that they tiptoed away without learning his name.

BALKAN PEACE
EFFORT VETOEDRussia Votes Against Border Commission
From 11 Nations

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, July 29 (P)—Russia invoked the big power veto today to kill a United States proposal for creation of an 11-nation border commission designed to bring peace to the Balkans.

The United States said the Soviet action created a "grave situation" and obtained immediate adjournment of the United Nations security council to allow delegates to consult their home governments.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy American delegate, labeled the veto, the 11th by Russia in U. N. history, a "simple abuse of power." He served notice at a special news conference that the United States would immediately renew its fight for a solution to Balkan disorders.

The U. N. charter requires that the big five agree on all major issues so when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko calmly raised his hand in dissent, he killed a resolution approved by nine of the 11 council delegates.

Poland joined Russia in voting against the resolution.

Gromyko attempted to get the floor to deliver a speech he had been writing out in long hand throughout today's sessions, but the council voted 8 to 1 with Poland dissenting to uphold the American move to adjourn. The next meeting was set for tomorrow (2 p. m., CDT), but there was some talk in council circles that this session might be postponed until delegates receive instructions.

Gromyko left U. N. headquarters immediately after the meeting and had no comment.

Two-Piece Bathing Suit Confusing To
Lions Club Judges

San Francisco, July 29 (P)—Judges in the Lions International parade here yesterday pleaded confusion today.

It might have been that beautiful Marjorie Ward, standing atop a gorgeous float, and attired in a charming two-piece suit, had obstructed their view.

The judges' announcement of the official convention headquarters last night was that the $250 prize for the best commercial float graced by Miss Ward in the parade, went to "Kansas, state of plenty."

But a recheck today disclosed an error and the official record will show that the $250 goes to "Arkansas, state of plenty."

Kansas didn't have a float.

DUTCH STRAFE
AIRFIELDS OF
JAVA REBELSPLANES RETALIATE
FOR ATTACK ON SEMARANG

BY STANLEY SWINTON
Batavia, Java, July 29 (P)—American-built Dutch fighter planes strafed Republican airfields on Java today, a Republican communiqué said. As the Jogjakarta radio announced nine persons, including three British citizens, were killed when an Indian transport plane bringing medical supplies to the Indonesians was shot down.

The Dutch strafing attacks apparently were in swift retaliation for an Indonesian one-plane attack upon Dutch-held Semarang.

The Republican communiqué said two Dutch P-40's strafed the Jogjakarta airfield, then attacked the Soerakarta airfield 39 miles northeast of the Republican capital. The Republicans said the same two planes killed two persons when they strafed the central Javanese village of Klaten.

A special broadcast by the Jogjakarta radio said the Indian transport, a Dakota which had taken off from Singapore with two tons of medicine for the Republic, was fired upon today by two Dutch fighters as the transport approached the landing strip at Jogjakarta.

Fires By Hundreds
The radio said the flight, arranged to take supplies to the Indonesian Red Cross, had previously been cleared with the Dutch consul general at Singapore. The Republicans claimed the Dakota carried the Indian markings PTCLA.

In Singapore, H. H. Schweitzer, representative for the International Red Cross, said the Dakota reported shot down at Jogjakarta was not sponsored by the International Red Cross.

Meanwhile, the Dutch extended their grip on the rich resources of Java and Sumatra. Some Republican sabotage was reported in oil

Big B-29 Plunges
In Florida Swamp;
Nine Crewmen Die

Eglin Field, Fla., July 29 (P)—Nine of 11 crewmen on a B-29 Superfortress taking off on a routine training flight lost their lives when the plane plunged into a swampy area just north of the field today.

The other two crewmen were injured, one seriously, when the craft went down soon after taking off and caught fire.

Capt. Robert Gaughan, public relations officer at the field, said the gasoline tanks did not explode and that the bodies were removed without being burned.

At Pittsfield, Mass., the family of Capt. Gordon W. Barrett Jr., was notified that he was a crewman on the ill-fated craft.

Barrett was a West Point graduate and winner of the distinguished flying cross during World War II as a Superfortress pilot.

Capt. Gaughan said names of the other victims could not be released until their next of kin had been notified.

The plane went down at 8:13 a. m. Central Daylight Time, near Valparaiso, Fla., about 200 yards north of Eglin Field, apparently without gaining much altitude after the takeoff, Gaughan said.

The elevator, owned by W. G. Kimmel, had been rebuilt after a fire last year.

Marrionburg, Va., July 29 (P)—At least ten persons were killed and several critically injured today when an explosion ripped a beauty shop apart and blew away a portion of an adjoining jewelry store in the central business section of this Shenandoah Valley town.

Bodies of the first six found, and that of another who died of injuries in Rockingham Memorial hospital, were removed to the Higgs and Lindsay funeral homes where they were identified as women residents of the surrounding area.

Britain May Cut
Her Armed Forces
As Economy Move

BY JACK S. SMITH

London, July 29 (P)—Authoritative sources said today Britain might reduce the size of her armed forces—a step which could have far reaching effects on her role as a world power—to meet a prospective economic crisis this winter.

Such an action, the informants continued, ultimately might be coupled with a cabinet decision to dip into Britain's "rainy day" gold and dollar reserve of $2,560,000,000.

As signs of the nation's economic troubles multiplied, a new wave of selling, attributed by financial writers to fears for the nation's future, hit London stock markets.

Rumors spread again—and were denied authoritatively—that Prime Minister Attlee's labor government might either call a general election to seek a new mandate from the people or invite the conservative party to join in an emergency coalition cabinet.

Attlee, replying to a routine parliamentary question based on a newspaper report, said in the House of Commons: "I see nothing in the newspapers which is totally inaccurate." He did not elaborate.

The government disclosed that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the imperial general staff, now in New Zealand, would cut short his Pacific tour because of "the pressure of business in London."

It was reported that he would advise the government on the reduction of Britain's Army, Navy and Air Force, which had 1,297,300 men at the start of the month.

Left wing labor party members long have urged the government to reduce the size of the armed services to save military costs and provide more men for undermanned industries. No indication was given of the possible size of the cuts, if they come, but unofficial sources speculated that they were likely to be extensive.

The diplomatic correspondent of the conservative Evening Standard wrote that "Far-reaching reductions in the services will involve major decisions regarding Britain's world policy and overseas political and military commitments."

Prepared in Russian, the new program is scheduled to reach Soviet ears at midnight, Moscow time, beginning tonight, State Department officials said in announcing the plan. It was indicated the expansion came at the suggestion of Walter B. Smith, U. S. Ambassador to Russia.

The present program, begun in February, runs from 8 to 9 p. m. Moscow time and will continue. The new venture won't cost any more, it was said, because the present staff will do the work, but the State Department began a 40 per cent reduction in broadcasts to other countries, conforming with a reduction in its budget by Congress.

Assistant Secretary William Beaton announced that broadcasts will be trimmed to 33 hours a day from the present 55 hours. Danish and Swedish will be dropped from the list of 26 languages in which broadcasts are now beamed abroad.

Other economies will be effected, including a staff reduction. The funds were trimmed from $8,400,000 to $6,900,000. Congress directed that some operations be shifted over to private radio companies.

Jesse James Mullen of Harrisonburg was injured in the blast which shattered windows as far as five blocks away. First reported dead, he was hurt while delivering coal in the basement where the explosion originated.

The owner of the shop and school, Mrs. Pauline Kline Sullivan, escaped injury when she left the spot a few moments before the blast.

Fire Chief Louis Armentrout said the cause of the explosion had not been determined. First reports indicated that a boiler blew up, however, it was thought later that coal dust had exploded.

MOSCOW HEARS
U. S. BROADCAST

Washington, July 29 (P)—A new 30-minute program of news and music hereafter will stream out over the "Voice of America" aimed directly at the Moscow area. It steps up by 50 per cent this country's official broadcasting to the Russians.

The program is scheduled to reach Soviet ears at midnight, Moscow time, beginning tonight, State Department officials said in announcing the plan. It was indicated the expansion came at the suggestion of Walter B. Smith, U. S. Ambassador to Russia.

Mae Dury Locates Cafe In Iron Co.

Iron River, Mich.—Gleaming white in the summer sunlight, the newly remodeled 10-room home at the junction of County 424 and the scenic road between Chicon and Indian lakes is attracting the attention of passing motorists.

The blue-roofed spacious residence connected by breezeway with its two-car garage is not a roadside restaurant as some believe, but rather the permanent home of Mrs. William Dury, famed for her Mae Dury Supper Club at Duck Creek near Green Bay.

Mrs. Dury, the former Mae Turcotte, moved her 35-year-old family dwelling from Pentoga, ghost logging village on the Brule river, to the Gastra-Alpha road junction three years ago, and workmen are nearly through remodeling the residence into a handsome year-round home.

Mrs. Dury said yesterday she plans the construction of another supper club on land adjoining her home, and the erection of overnight cottages for tourists, but the

VA Must Approve Medical, Dental Care For Veterans

In order to obtain medical or dental care in his home town at government expense, a veteran first must obtain authorization from the Veterans Administration, officials of the Upper Peninsula VA office in Escanaba said yesterday.

Many veterans have neglected to obtain such authorization before starting treatments, it was pointed out, and without approval by the VA, physicians and dentists rendering such treatments cannot be reimbursed. The only exception is emergency treatment, which must be definitely established.

Both the veteran and physician or dentist should determine that authorization has been obtained. Veterans entitled to medical or dental care for service-connected disabilities should apply for approval at the VA office nearest their home.

Unemployed Claims Heard By Referee

Iron Mountain, Mich.—First to be heard in Iron Mountain after the appointment in June of a resident referee in the U. P., representing the Michigan Unemployment Commission, 19 persons presented claims at compensation hearings conducted yesterday and Tuesday in municipal court by Michael D. O'Hara, new resident referee, and Menominee attorney.

O'Hara, appointed U. P. referee in June, received his training in Detroit and has been conducting hearings in the U. P. since July 16. Claims of residents of Dickinson county heard here involved interpretations of the rights of employers and employees. Decisions are not made known at the time of the hearings. Claimants are notified of the decision, by mail, by the Detroit office of the commission.

A graduate of Notre Dame university at South Bend, Ind., O'Hara was admitted to the bar in 1935. A "third-generation" attorney, he is the son of John J. O'Hara, practicing Menominee attorney, former state auditor general and chairman of the Michigan Public Service commission.

Wilbert Chaillier Takes Refresher In Aviation At Topeka

Wilbert R. Chaillier, sergeant in the air reserve, has reported to the Topeka, Kan., Army Air Field for a 15-day refresher course, it was announced by Col. George E. Kinzie, commanding the Reserve Training Detachment in Topeka.

Chaillier, a former resident of Schaffer and graduate of Schaffer school, reported to Topeka from Chicago, where he now lives. He entered service Nov. 19, 1942 and served until February 14, 1946 for which he earned the American Theatre ribbon, World War II Victory medal and the good conduct medal.

Approximately 250 officers and enlisted men are attending the training camp of eight periods, from July 5 to October 31.

AIRLINE GETS NEW ELECTRA

Wisconsin - Central Will Buy Four Additional Airplanes

Clintonville, Wis.—Francis M. Higgins, president, and A. Irving Pett, vice president in charge of operations of Wisconsin Central Airlines, are scheduled to return here late tonight with the first of the five Lockheed 10-A Electra airplanes for transportation of passengers, mail and cargo to 43 cities in Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, including Green Bay.

The twinengine Lockheed Electra transport has a capacity of 10 passengers and a crew of two, as well as space for cargo, baggage and mail. Because of its high overall speed and minimum landing and take-off runway requirements the Electra is considered to be the most suitable aircraft available today for this type of regional airline service. Many of the major trunk airlines have used Electras in the past to develop new routes.

Included among the cities Wisconsin Central is ready to serve some of the largest cities in this country as yet unserved by any commercial airline. Economic studies reveal that in these cities, as well as in many of the smaller cities on Wisconsin Central's route, there is an unusual amount of manufacturing and business activity which requires a faster mode of transportation than is now available. Morning and evening schedules are being planned between most of the cities on the route and Chicago, Milwaukee, Twin Cities and other metropolitan areas for the benefit of business travelers.

Wisconsin Central will also accommodate the heavy flow of tourist traffic to northern Wisconsin, the upper Peninsula of Michigan and northeastern Minnesota. "Fishermen and Hunter Specials" on regular schedule will leave Chicago, Milwaukee and the Twin Cities during the fishing and hunting season.

This fellow's car was steaming like Vesuvius. And right off I saw his radiator was covered with bugs...

Well, service is my business—so I whisked the radiator clean. And that's when I saw his fan belt... frayed to the breaking point.

"Yep," he said when I showed it to him. "Better let me have a new one."

So I made a sale. But here's the real point: I was only trying to be helpful when I cleaned that fellow's radiator. But lookin' for the little "Bugs" helps turn up the big ones—and can save a customer heaps of trouble.

Fantastic Contract

THE Brewster investigation committee is uncovering some rather fantastic information concerning the $40,000,000 contract that Howard Hughes and Henry Kaiser secured from the government during the war to build super cargo planes.

The army, navy, air forces, in fact virtually everyone connected with the aviation industry reported that the super cargo plane designed by the Hughes-Kaiser combine was impractical and that their plans to put the plane into production in 10 months was impossible. Nevertheless, the contract was awarded and the airplanes still have not yet been delivered to the government.

The only reason that anyone in authority in Washington can give for the issuance of the contract is that some of the bigwigs thought that perhaps Kaiser would do a "miracle job." The airplane was designed as a substitute for ships at a time when liners were being sunk with sickening rapidity by German submarines. The merchant marine, incidentally, was included in the government agencies opposing the cargo plane idea.

Senator Ferguson, of Michigan, subcommittee chairman, is doing an excellent job in ferreting out the background for this fantastic deal, which is just one in a long series of unsavory war contracts now being brought to light by the senate war investigating committee.

More U. P. Industries

LOGGING and sawmill operators of the western portion of the Upper Peninsula, along with representatives of federal and state agencies, took steps at a conference held in Hancock last week to form a regional organization to encourage establishment of more wood working industries in the Upper Peninsula.

Discussions at the conference were given to the utilization of wood wastes for the manufacture of various resin-bonded products, such as is being done in other parts of the country. Consideration also was given to possibilities for inducing local capital to establish wood working industries or attract outside concerns to produce the finished product in the area where the timber is being cut.

Chief reason for the efforts to organize the wood producers is the desire to create a more extensive utilization of the timber resources of the region. Wood-consuming industries of Wisconsin and other states are making deep inroads into the Upper Peninsula timber stands. But the employment provided in cutting the trees is little when compared with the payrolls that are created by finishing the product in the paper, veneer and other wood industries outside the Upper Peninsula.

There is still some unemployment in the Upper Peninsula. Our forest resources could furnish all the desired jobs if more industries were established in the timber areas, instead of merely shipping the logs and rough lumber for processing out-of-state.

Mongolia Rejected

CHINA'S rejection of Outer Mongolia's application for membership in the United Nations has drawn a reply from Russia, sponsor of Outer Mongolia's UN bid, that "certain Far East" parties might like to force an investigation of the China-Mongolia border situation similar to that in the case of Greece.

Logically the answer is "Why not?" China, which already has announced that it will use the veto authority to cancel Outer Mongolia's membership bid, has accused the Communist-controlled Outer Mongolian republic with launching a military invasion of Chinese territory. Supporting Mongolia's petition for membership in the United Nations, Russia, in turn, denied the Chinese accusation and claimed that the Mongolian-Chinese border conflict was the result of an invasion of Chinese troops into Outer Mongolian territory.

In view of the contradictory testimony, it would be well if the United Nations would conduct its own investigation of the situation and, if necessary, establish a border watch similar to that suggested in the Greek-Albanian situation.

The Mongolian-Chinese warfare, which the Chinese delegate has reported is continuing even today, may constitute a threat to world peace. The world has learned that armed conflict anywhere in the world cannot be dismissed as an isolated incident and that every such uprising has a profound effect upon the delicate balance of world peace.

A Sorry Tale

SPEAKING a few days ago at the Rackham Memorial in Detroit, Dr. Selden D. Bacon, director of the Connecticut State Clinic for Alcoholics, told a conference group of 100 that two-thirds of the nation's jail population are alcoholics. If this is true, and there is little reason to doubt Dr. Bacon's accuracy, the situation is a first class argument for temperance in the use of intoxicating liquors.

Furthermore, the speaker said, alcoholism is increasing faster than the rate of population growth. Dr. Bacon and Harry S. Warner, lecturer at the Yale University School of Alcohol Studies, urged educators and clergymen to teach the horrors of alcoholism in churches, colleges and high schools.

Three or four decades ago, there was a healthy movement on foot to devote a part of all liquor tax receipts to instruction about the evils of drinking. Today there is little or no organized textbook instruction in many schools, the matter being left largely to the inclination of the individual instructor.

Other speakers commented on the large proportion of alcoholics in T. B. and other sanitariums and insane asylums. Alcoholics Anonymous was praised for its work in rehabilitating drunkards. It is said that the association is successful in about one-half the cases brought before it.

All in all, these authorities say that the total costs of liquor are far more than those published as consumption volume statistics—probably less than one-half of the total toll that liquor takes from American men and women. These well-posted and unprejudiced men no doubt know what they are talking about when they say that the liquor problem is about the greatest before the American public today. It affects all lines of business, and its total cost is none the less heavy because a large part of it is indirect or concealed.

No Economies

IT IS not pleasant to learn that the unification of the armed forces under a single cabinet officer may increase rather than reduce the cost of national defense.

This report from Secretary Forrestal indicates that the unification program will be at the top level only and that each of the three branches of service, Army, Navy and Air, will operate with considerable autonomy. Apparently this will mean that each of the separate branches of the armed services will continue to bid against each other for supplies at the expense of the fellow who pays the bills for all three groups, Uncle Sam.

Perhaps it's necessary to go slowly towards our ultimate goal in the armed forces unification program in view of the jealousies that exist between the various branches of the services. Nevertheless, the American people has reason to hope that the unification program would not only coordinate the planning of the various branches of the armed services but would also reduce some of the duplication of efforts, thereby resulting in economies. It is a goal that still remains, even if its accomplishment for one reason or another is to be delayed.

'KEEP STATE GREEN'

(Milwaukee Journal)

Ira L. Baldwin, dean of the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, recently said: "Good farmers are aware that our soils are still suffering (from erosion). Their advice is that we go still further in our use of crops that cover the land and protect it, planting less of those that lay the soil open to loss."

Some of Dean Baldwin's hearers asked: "But if we are to reduce still further our acreage of cultivated crops, how do we feed our herds?" Dean Baldwin answered: "Research in livestock feeding has shown that good quality forage is the finest and richest food to be had. Nothing a farmer can buy—and for that matter nothing he can grow—equals good pasture grown on good soil, grass silage put up in the right way, and hay that is cut at the right time and cured properly."

Supplementing Mr. Baldwin's statement, Andrew W. Hopkins, director of publicity, says: "First, more grass; second, on the steeper slopes, 'grass all the time'; then, on the steeper slopes, trees."

If Mr. Baldwin's and Mr. Hopkins' proposals were followed, Wisconsin could be kept green in the agricultural as well as in the forest areas.

This suggestion might be added — that there be more roadside plantings to block the wind erosion of light soils.

Of course we don't want Wisconsin farmers to lose their topsoil by having it either wash away or blow away. We don't want to lose the soil fertility of one of the richest agricultural areas in the middle west. Yet, because we strip the higher slopes of trees and the lower slopes of a permanent grass cover, and too often fail to resort to contour plowing along the sides of streams or lakes, we promote both types of erosion.

Wisconsin should be kept as green in the southern agricultural areas as in the north. Dean Baldwin makes a constructive suggestion when he proposes it.

BACCALAUREATE

From the Morgantown, W. Va., Post: "We are almost ready to run up the white flag and surrender to those who insist on calling the church services held in connection with high school graduations 'baccalaureate.' As far as our survey has gone, the Post is the only newspaper in the state that refers to these exercises as the 'high school graduation sermon,' in the old-fashioned belief that since no baccalaureate degrees are awarded to high school seniors, it is wrong to imply otherwise. For a little while longer we are going to hold out."

I do not know how widespread is the practice of using the term "baccalaureate" in connection with high school graduations. But the term does have a jarring effect on the ears of those who have a feeling for the fine distinction

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington, D. C. — Six months ago, George C. Marshall became Secretary of State to the accompaniment of such salvos of praises as are rarely accorded any public figure. As chief of staff during the war, he had won a towering reputation.

Having completed his temporary assignment in China, General Marshall's desire was to retire to his country home at Leesburg, Virginia. He was 66 years old. He looked forward to well-earned peace and quiet in his latter years.

At President Truman's urging, he accepted the new task. Some of us were fearful, at the time of his appointment, that the salvos of praise were too extravagant. To make him sound like a miracle-worker, in view of what he faced, was a disservice.

But after six months of stress and strain, of trial and testing, Marshall's reputation still looms large. It has been a crowded six months with events pressing one upon the other, beginning with the Moscow conference.

—SPEECH WAS EFFECTIVE—
Secretary Marshall has not by any means altered the fundamental relationships that existed before he took office. Those who understood the realities of the Soviet-U. S. position never believed that he could bring about an overnight change.

What he has done in six months is to present the world with an alternative to chaos and catastrophe. The consequences of Marshall's Harvard university speech have been astonishing.

It is not merely that representatives of 16 European nations are meeting in Paris to try to agree on a plan for European reconstruction. Equally important is the fact that it has spurred the Soviet Union to compete in kind. Just as the British-Soviet trade negotiations seemed about to end in complete failure, there was a change of heart in Moscow and the British have now been promised a million tons of wheat from Russia.

The Marshall plan may fail. It may fail because the competition between East and West settles into a competition for bigger and better armaments. Or it may fail, more immediately, because of the division of the government in Washington between Republicans and Democrats, and the deeper feud between those who believe we must play a part in the world and those who believe our only security is in isolation. But failure will not be the fault of the author of the plan. It will come out of circumstances beyond the control of any individual.

Having more modesty than most public figures, Marshall does not claim all the credit for what has been achieved. His new planning staff, headed by George F. Kennan, has had a lot to do with shaping the Marshall plan. The fact remains, however, that it was Marshall who instituted the planning staff and manned it with some of the ablest men in his department.

—GREAT HELP TO TRUMAN—

One of the few critical attacks on Marshall followed his return from Moscow. An inspired news story said he had held himself too aloof at the Moscow conference and had not called on the other members of the delegation for their help and counsel. Those who watched him at close range refute this charge. While he is naturally reserved, he made every effort to include his colleagues in all important discussions.

Almost inevitably, with politics to the fore on the eve of a presidential contest, Marshall's pre-eminent position is recorded with a certain jealousy in the books of the Republican opposition. He is by all odds President Truman's greatest single asset.

For his own part, Secretary Marshall has done everything he could from the beginning to keep politics out. He considers himself a non-political agent of all the American people.

The position he occupies today is not unlike that which Cordell Hull held as Secretary of State under President Roosevelt. Like Hull, Marshall is the repository of enormous public confidence. There is one sure way to take the secretary of state out of politics. That is for the Republican candidate next year to declare that if he is elected, he will keep Marshall in his present office. That is also the best way to insure the continuity of a bi-partisan foreign policy.

tions of words.

Baccalaureate, to begin with, has an unusual history. The original word is the Late Latin baccalaris, "a dependent or tenant farmer." From baccalaris evolved the word bachelor which meant "a novice knight," i. e., a knight who, because of his youth or lack of vassals, served under the standard of another. Hence, by extension (1) an unmarried man; (2) one holding the lowest academic degree conferred by colleges and universities.

The word baccalaureate, then, clearly refers to one of the degrees of bachelor. Therefore, use of baccalaureate as referring to a high school graduation ceremony is misleading and quite inaccurate.

A similar anomaly is the wearing of the academic cap and gown by students at high school or junior high graduation exercises. The cap and gown, of course, is properly worn only by students, graduates and the faculty of a college or university. But I have seen the academic costume worn by even the 6-year-old "graduates" of a private school kindergarten class!

Commencement is the day of the ceremonies for awarding degrees or diplomas. There apparently is no explanation for this contradictory term except that commencement is the day on which college graduates "commence" to hold their degrees.

If that is the case, commencement exercises can properly be held only at colleges and universities.

No Alternative

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

WHAT'S IN A NAME—There are 262 lakes named Mud in Michigan but Delta county is fortunate because it has only two. Why fortunate? Well, few people enjoy even the sound of the name.

Mud Lake, let alone seeking it out to go fishing there.

There is the story told of the fishermen in Barry county in Lower Michigan who agreed to meet at Mud Lake. They all arrived at Mud Lake and inquired about the others of their party.

The reason they didn't get together on that fishing trip is because there are more than a dozen Mud Lakes in Barry county—and they had all gone to a different one.

Besides causing confusion and wounding the sensitive ear, lake names like Mud, Round, Perch, Carp and Pike do little to attract the attention of visiting fishermen. For this reason the Michigan department of conservation is favoring changing the names of many lakes in the state. The changes are made by the county boards of supervisors, the new names then appear on the new maps, and eventually there is one less Mud lake in Michigan.

TWO IN DELTA—So far as we know there are but two Mud Lakes in Delta county. One is located on the Stonington Peninsula and its outlet empties into Big Bay de Noc near Chippewa Point. The other is located between Fayette and Fairport and there is even a school named for it—the Mud Lake school.

Delta county has its share of other commonplace lake names. There is a Perch lake, along with 48 others in the state; a Round lake, and 66 others in the state; a Carp lake and several scores more by the same name in other counties.

SOME ARE UNUSUAL—You might think that because of the large number of lakes of similar name, Michigan people lack imagination. Yet this is not the case, as many unusual lake names in the state will testify.

In Delta county, for instance, there is a Bishop lake that goes very well with the Preacher Lake and Priest Lake found elsewhere in the state.

But Delta county also has a Jug Lake, one of several lake names with a drinking connotation in the state. Others include Peck and Rye Lake, Punch Bowl Lake and Coffee Lake. There are a number of "Devil" lakes in the state and the devil gets his due—with Three Devil and Five Devil Lakes, Devil's Hole, Devil's Hollow and Devil's Soup Bowl Lakes. But over in Mackinac county the Indians (and later the French) outdid all of the Devil Lakes when they named Millecouquins Lake. The name is French for an Indian word meaning "Place of a Million Devils."

THE ROMANTIC SIDE—Most of the lake names in Delta county and in the state are quite prosaic. Occasionally, however, a lake is given a name so romantic you wonder if there might not be a love story somewhere in the background.

Delta county, for instance, has a Peacock Lake, a very fancy title for a lake set down in the pine plains. But in other parts of the state there is Moonbeam Lake, and a lake named Sun Dance.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

The new Escanaba yacht basin will be dedicated this evening in a ceremony under the direction of the Lions club which will be held on the yacht basin pier and will commence at 8 o'clock.

Washington—The house, ignoring Republican cries of "dictatorship" and "undercover men," voted today to give the president six $10,000-a-year assistants.

The Escanaba Municipal Airport was dedicated yesterday at an evening ceremony in which 85 members of the Michigan State air tour participated.

Washington—The adjournment of Congress won't end the attacks of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, on administration policies. The senior senator said today he would accept a number of invitations to address groups and organizations after adjournment.

Twenty Years Ago

Chicago—More than a score of persons, mostly women and children, were drowned late today when the "Favorite," a small two-deck excursion boat, capsized in Lake Michigan during a squall.

Mackinac Island—Gov. Ed Jackson of Indiana, who boarded the steamer Islander at St. Ignace tonight with the governors' party and returned to Mackinac Island, said he would return to Indiana at once. Reports that he had taken his life were quickly dispelled when he said that he had spent the day fishing. Gov. Lem Small of Illinois said the Indiana governor had received threats against his life and that Governor Jackson was determined to go back and "fight to the last ditch."

Fred A. Chauman, business partner of Gov. Fred W. Green, and manager of the state fair at Detroit, spent Thursday in Escanaba in conference with members of the executive committee of the Peninsula State Fair board.

Flying nearly 100 miles in a little more than an hour, George M. Mashek, Escanaba lumberman, yesterday had a comprehensive and illuminating view of a large territory in which he has extensive real estate and timber holdings.

stuff is remindful of the story of the backwoods wife who had thirteen children. They were all named Joe, John, Millie, Pete, Mary and other common or garden variety names with exception of one child who had been named Gaillardia. A friend of the family asked the husband the reason for one Gaillardia among so many Joes and Marys.

"I had me puzzled too for a couple years," said the husband. "I'll remember that was the year the old woman sent away for a seed catalog."

SEVERAL CHANGES—Back in 1941 the Delta county board of supervisors did act on petitions for changing some dozen or more lake names in the county. That is the way to get a lake name officially changed—petition your county board for it, suggesting some more suitable name to take its place.

The conservation department looks with favor on such changes and will even suggest some names of its own if you get stuck. It will place the new names on the map and—after people become accustomed to the change—you will have a new name for your old lake. But don't expect people to accept the change quickly. Many a Mud Lake has gone on being Mud Lake for years after it was changed to Sylvan or Swan.

COULDN'T BE WORSE—Probably the ugliest name for a body

Q. Must a veteran prove that he has had previous experience in a business to get a GI guaranty of a loan for business purposes?

The lending agency passes on the veteran's qualifications for a loan.

Q. When was the first income tax passed in the U. S.?

A. October 3, 1913, but it was effective as of March 1, 1913. The basic income tax rate was 1 per cent. A single man's exemption was $3,000. On September 8, 1916, the basic rate was increased to 2 per cent, retroactive to January 1 of the same year.

Q. Do many Americans like to play out of doors at night?

A. As proof of that point, in 1946 509 cities reported 7,121 lighted play areas.

Q. Are there any active minor political parties today in the U. S.?

A. Yes. There are the Socialist, Socialist Labor, Communist and Prohibitionist.

Q. What is meant by the "storm and drang" period?

A. It was the period from 1750 to 1800, known as the volcanic period of German literature, when Latin and French patches were banished from the language and German was left unadorned. The "storm and drang" period of life was considered from 20 to 25 when youth was full of enthusiasm and ideas of radical reform. During this period old things were to be swept away and new things were to prevail and the language was to be purified and German literature was to be made a model for the world.

of water in the Upper Peninsula is the Dead Sucker River. The prettiest name of a lake in the U. P. is Lake of the Clouds—but a glance at your map will show you that out of Lake of the Clouds flows plain old Carp River.

There are many pleasing and unusual lake names in the Upper Peninsula. Some of them go way back to Indian times, such as Lake Michigamme and Lake Gogebic. Others changed from Indian to French, such as Millecouquins and Grand Sable.

But the most amusing lake name we have ever heard is Lake Fanny Hooe. That lake is located at Fort Wilkins at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Those who have watched the inside of Washington's lobbying racket must agree that Senator Brewster of Maine has performed a useful service in bringing out the Bizarre Night-Club parties, the Hollywood love-lies and other amusements used by airplane manufacturer Howard Hughes to cozy up to government officials, however, the big question is: Will Brewster's probe go far enough?

Repeatedly in recent years this column has called attention to this type of lobby. It has waxed flagrant and uninvestigated. Sometimes it operated through wine, women and song; sometimes through close personal friendships; sometimes through family connections.

Almost every big war contractor kept a luxurious apartment in Washington during the war, staffed with servants and plenty of liquor for the entertainment of army officers and war production board officials. Most of the time these apartments were empty, thereby contributing to the Capital's housing program. Most of the time also the servants were idle—which made Washington housewives, unable to get servants, furious.

There was, among other things, the yacht kept by a well-known perfume importer down the Potomac, on which John Maragon, ex-Kansas city bootblack and close friend of the president, entertained.

There was the swank house on S street, sometimes called the Street of the Presidents—where the power lobby threw ornate parties.

There was also the very charming and personable Burdette Wright of Curtiss-Wright airplane fame, who was extremely close to army officers and who signed many lucrative contracts before the war—later charged by Major De Seversky as setting back the air corps for months.

There was also the close tie between General Hal Arnold, head of the air corps and Donald Douglas, head of Douglas aircraft, brought about through the marriage of their son and daughter.

Unique among the lobbying was that of the Aviation Corporation of America, performed by that astute and charming ex-White House Jester, George Allen.

But most successful of all—far more successful than the obnoxious lobbying of Howard Hughes—was that of Pan American Airways. If Senator Brewster went into all these lobbying setups, especially the amazing ramifications of Pan American Airways, he would be doing a great service to the country.

NOTE—Brewster is known as the best friend Pan American Airways has in the senate, so the chances are 100 to 1 that he won't.

—NO FLOOD CONTROL—

Congress adjourned without doing anything constructive about one of the most vital needs of the nation—flood control. How vital it is was illustrated in a conversation between President Truman and Rep. Al Elliott, Conservative Democrat of Tulare, Calif., who do not agree on many things, but do see eye-to-eye on flood control.

"There are four rivers, Mr. President, coming into a large area in my district and the district of Bud Gearhart," explained the California congressman. "The Kern, the King, the Tule and the Kaweah—and they have absolutely no outlet."

"I thought I learned a lot about flood control and the rivers of this country while I was in the senate," the President interrupted, "but I never knew about those rivers."

Elliott then explained that in wet seasons those rivers can flood as much as half a million acres of rich farmland—and that huge areas can be inundated by serious flash floods.

"Sometimes large parts of that plain have been under water for as much as two years—and I've seen grain crops worth as much as $30,000,000 just wiped out in a few hours shortly before they were to be harvested," Elliott continued. "That land is so flat, Mr. President, that I've seen as much as 640 acres completely covered with water—and yet the water would not be over an inch and a half deep at any one point."

Dams have been authorized on the Kern and King rivers, although little money has been appropriated. Elliott wants funds not only for them but for the Tule and Kaweah rivers.

"With all the current trouble about a shortage of oil, it seems to me almost criminal not to protect the rich oilfields near Bakersfield," Elliott said. "They're in constant danger from floods—and in the past some of the highest grade oil to be found anywhere has been lost because of the Kern river. I don't like to think of another war—but if it should come, we'd certainly not like to take any chance on having production from that field slowed down."

The President heartily agreed. "I hope to be able to use this office," he said, "to spread flood-control protection throughout the United States generally."

AIRLINE STOP PLANNED HERE

Officials Of Nationwide
Coming Thursday
From Detroit

Detroit officials of the Nationwide Airlines will come to Escanaba Thursday to confer with the aviation committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce regarding plans to make Escanaba a stop on the Houghton-Detroit air route, Secretary Dudley Jewell said yesterday.

The airline now makes regular stops at Iron Mountain, and is contemplating the inclusion of Menominee and Escanaba in the schedule.

Although little more than two years old, Nationwide Airlines today owns and operates five Douglas DC-3, 90-passenger planes and Lockheed six-passenger. The home office of the company is at the Miami International Airport, Miami, Fla., and R. Paul Weesner, of Miami, is president. Other offices are in New York; Chicago; Charleston, S. C.; Kingston, Jamaica; San Juan, P. R.; Barbados, B.W.I.; Nassau, in the Bahamas, and Detroit.

The airline was started by Paul Weesner shortly after the war, with only one airplane, and has steadily expanded to its present development. It now maintains special flying service for the U. S. department of immigration and department of agriculture, and the scope of its air routes are being constantly expanded.

Former Iron River Boys Are Key Men At Radio Station

Iron River, Mich.—Something in the Iron county atmosphere must be conducive to development of the voice. Two Iron River young men are principal announcers on the staff of radio station WBBM, Columbia Broadcasting System's key station in Chicago.

One is Duane A. Nelson, 32, chief announcer of the WBBM staff of 20 silken-voiced announcers, who is vacationing for three weeks with his wife and daughters, Kristen and Elizabeth, at the home of his mother, Mrs. Alfred Nelson, Eighth avenue at Division.

The other is Fahey "Fay" Flynn, 29, son of the William Flynn of Escanaba, former Iron River residents.

"Fay" Flynn who as a newscaster is often introduced to radio listeners by the invitation "Fahey Flynn, please come in!" is a young man with 12 years of broadcasting behind him. He has been on regular duty since his days with an Oshkosh, Wis. station while a student at the teachers' college there. He has a masters' degree in speech and is classed by Nelson as one of the best in the business.

Flynn specializes in reporting the news and sports but he is currently absorbed in gathering, sifting and writing a show, "Report Uncensored", that replaces the Lux Radio Show on Mondays at 8 p. m. Starkly real, the broadcast describes treatment of young delinquents and how they are often subjected to the cruel punishment of the rubber hose persuader. Flynn is narrator. While at Iron River high school, Flynn won the state declamatory championship.

JOLIET'S TRIP IS RETRACED

University Of Montreal Students Canoeing On Great Lakes

Green Bay, Wis.—Two University of Montreal students, who are attempting to retrace Joliet and Marquette's journey from Montreal to New Orleans had completed the most hazardous part of their 3,000 mile trip Friday when they reached Green Bay.

The boys, Jean de Haerne and Jacques Flahault, are making the trip in a 16-foot, 65-pound canoe, an even more difficult task than the original trip since Marquette and Joliet made their voyage in 1673 in a sailing vessel.

Leaving Montreal May 26, de Haerne and Flahault have followed the route through Lakes Ontario, Erie, Huron, the Bay de Noc, the Straits of Mackinac, Lake Michigan and Green Bay. From here they will go down the Fox river, portage to the Wisconsin river and then down the Mississippi.

Caught In Storm

De Haerne's brother, Michael, a technical engineer, began the trip with them but became ill and returned to Montreal. He will join them again at Portage.

The two most dangerous events in their journey so far came in Bay de Noc where de Haerne says the storm in which they were caught whipped up waves over eight feet high, and in the Straits of Mackinac where they were lost in a fog. The boys started out with a compass which was washed overboard in the Bay de Noc storm. They continued the trip without navigation instruments of any kind.

De Haerne has been planning the trip for the last three years, after reading an article about the original trip. He has had no experience in canoeing and his companion has done little canoeing before.

Camp on Shore

They carry a week's supply of food and camping equipment with them and camp each night along the shore. All their cooking is done over an open fire. Flahault, 22, very sunburned, is an art student at Montreal university and de Haerne, 21, is a commerce student there. He already has a heavy black beard which he will not shave off until he reaches New Orleans.

They do not expect to reach New Orleans until September 1, when they will ship their canoe back to Montreal and hitch-hike back to Montreal in time to re-enter college.

State Police Pistol Expert At U. P. Fair

One of the many feature attractions to be offered at the Upper Peninsula State Fair in Escanaba on August 19 to 24 will be a series of shooting demonstrations by Corporal Lester Coykendall, Michigan State Police marksman.

Coykendall enlisted in the State Police in August of 1931 and was promoted to the rank of corporal in March of 1945. He is now assigned to the Rockford Post in the Lower Peninsula.

Coykendall's extraordinary ability has made him much in demand for shooting demonstrations. In his exhibition he performs such stunts as putting a bullet through the bullseye by aiming at the reflection of the mark in a mirror, slicing in half a playing card placed edgewise, picking the tee from under a golf ball, snuffing out candles, popping off one at a time three balloons, one of which is inside the second which is again inside the third, and with the gun sights obstructed shattering small clay targets.

His shooting is done at a distance of 30 feet, and he uses all calibers of pistols and a sub-machine gun that fires 800 bullets a minute.

Aside from the entertainment value, one of the benefits of the demonstration is the lesson learned from the safe method with which he handles the firearms.

Alleged Lobbyists Plead Innocent In Madison, Wis., Court

Madison, Wis., July 28 (P)—John B. Newman of Washington, D. C., and R. J. Trebilcock, Wauwatosa, Wis., pleaded innocent when arraigned in Superior court today on charges of illegal lobbying before the Wisconsin legislature.

Judge Roy H. Proctor set preliminary hearings to Aug. 14, and permitted the two to sign their own bonds for $500 each.

Newman, vice president of the corn industries foundation, and Trebilcock, representative of the Corn Products Sales Co., New York, were charged with appearing at a legislative hearing April 16 in support of a bill to permit the use of dextrose and corn syrup as sweetening agents in food. At that time, the state

44 ways

To get "Something for Nothing"

The railroads have received 44 "rules" demands from the leaders of the operating unions . . . representing engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen. They say they are seeking only changes in working conditions—NOT a wage increase.

More Money For Less Work

But what kind of rules are being asked for? Twenty-eight of them would compel railroads to pay more money for the same, or less work; 7 would require additional and unnecessary men to do the same work; the rest would bring about changes in operating practices at increased cost.

For Instance:

The Union leaders demand additional train and engine crews on Diesel-powered trains—one full crew for every power unit in the locomotive. A freight train hauled by a 4-unit Diesel would have to carry 4 engineers, 4 firemen, 4 conductors, and at least 8 brakemen, or a total of 20 men instead of 5.

"Made Work"—Sheer Waste

The Union leaders demand that full-length freight trains be cut to about half their length, even though such trains are most efficient for low-cost service to you. This rule would call for twice as many locomotives, would double the number of trains, and make accidents more likely.

Additional equipment, yards, and other facilities required to take care of these short trains would cost hundreds of millions. What the Union leaders really want is to make more jobs.

The Union leaders demand that when a crew in one class of service perform incidental service of another class, they will be paid not less than a day's pay for each class, even though all service is performed as a part of the same day's work. The crew would get at least two days' pay for one day's work.

The Union leaders demand that the present basic day for passenger conductors and trainmen be reduced from 150 to 100 miles, which would have the effect of increasing their pay 50%. Such a run often takes only two or three hours!

You Can't Afford This Waste

Demands like these are against the interests of the whole American people, who depend on railroad service for nearly everything they eat, wear and use.

These rules would cost a BILLION DOLLARS annually—a gigantic waste which neither the railroads nor the country can afford.

Railroad workers are good citizens and good employees, with pride in their calling. Their record during the war was outstanding. We do not believe they fully understand the "featherbed" rules which the Union leaders are demanding. We do not believe they understand the harmful results which these rules would have to the railroad industry, to the millions of men and women dependent on railroads for their livelihood, and to the shipping and consuming public.

The great strength of America is in production—an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

For only through greater production can we hope to stop the steady upward surge of living costs.

Surely, if ever there was a time in our history when we needed to work, not waste, this is it.

1937 telephone rates won't work in 1947

THERE have been a lot of changes moneywise since 1937. Wages have gone up. Taxes have gone up. Prices of most things have advanced. But during this time, telephone rates haven't budged an inch ahead.

The last rate increase, in fact, was in 1926—21 years ago! From then until 1937 telephone rates went down substantially. Since 1937, there have been even further local reductions in a number of exchanges, and toll rates have come down too. But, in general, the 1937 rates prevail today.

Looking at the other side of the ledger, post-war wage adjustments alone, including settlements reached during the recent strike, have boosted our costs $11,000,000 a year. All our other costs have risen, too.

But our income hasn't gone up nearly as fast as our costs. In the ten years since 1937, income has increased 141%. Costs have gone up 193%. Our return on investment has dropped more than a third.

We've held the line on rates just as long as possible. Now we have to ask for an increase in order to protect our customers' service.

We still have a lot of additions to make to the telephone system before we can give service to those who are waiting, and give better service to everybody. This will take a lot of money . . . money which must come from investors. Investors will put up the money only if they are assured a fair return, which we cannot provide under our present rates. A growing business, especially, has to earn a good return in order to attract the capital needed for growth.

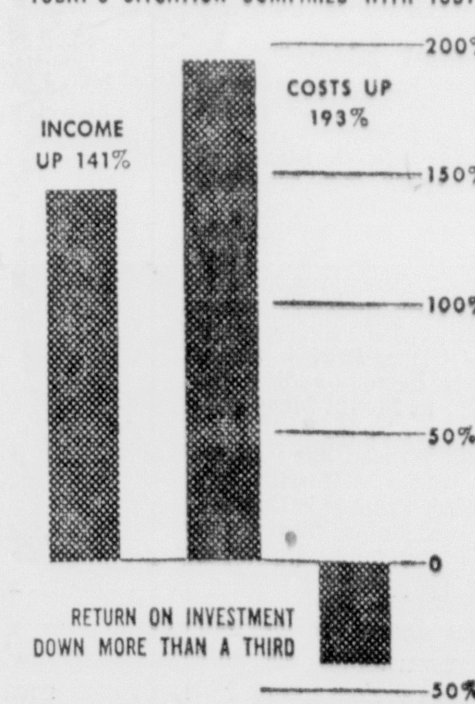

So the future of Michigan's telephone service depends on raising rates enough to assure the financial stability of your telephone company.

That's why we're going to ask the Michigan Public Service Commission for a public hearing to review our proposed new schedule of rates. (The Public Service Commission is the body established by State law and appointed by the Governor to regulate utility rates.) During the week of August 3, we'll publish details of the proposed rates throughout Michigan Bell territory. After that, we'll file the petition with the Commission.

We feel the same way you do about raising rates. We'd rather not have to do it. But, when the quality of your service is in question, we have no alternative.

TODAY'S SITUATION COMPARED WITH 1937

NOTE: Where the term "Income" is used above, its meaning is the same as "Revenue" or "Gross Income." Where the term "Investment" is used, it means the original cost of the telephone property less the depreciation reserve accrued against the ultimate retirement of the property.

TERMITES REAL BUILDING THREAT

MSC Professor Declares Michigan Homes May Be Damaged

BY ROBERT E. VOGES

East Lansing, July 19 (AP)—Reticulitermes flavipes will get you if you don't watch out.

That's the warning of Prof. I. E.
McDaniel of the Michigan State College Entomology Department.

Flavipes, more commonly known as termites or "white ants" are veteran Michigan residents. These Michigan old-timers will find homes in a lot of the new dwellings being put up for war veterans and others, according to Professor McDaniel.

"Contractors building now are largely ignoring the threat of invasion by termites," said Professor McDaniel. "And people planning homes in most cases neglect to insist on a few simple precautions for termite control."

Destruction by termites is a very real threat in Michigan, according to the expert.

"Termites thrive in the entire southern portion of the state, from Oscoda county down," she said.
"The extreme west and southern counties support the most active colonies. Cities like Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, all former lumber centers, are hardest hit by the insects."

Reports come in every week of termite damage, the expert said.

"Nearly every school and court house in southern Michigan is infected by termites," she said. "The builders just neglected to make any precaution for termite control."

"Most people don't realize they are harboring termites until they go through a rotten board or touch a plank that crumbles under their touch," said Professor McDaniel.
"Then it's too late to do anything about them."

WATER USAGE IS DISCUSSED

Civil Engineers Group Holds Meeting In Duluth

Duluth, Minn., (SS)—Control and utilization of water in arid and semi-arid regions must adhere to the principle that the highest use should be for domestic consumption and the growing of crops, the American Society of Civil Engineers was told here by Col. W. W. Wanamaker of the Army Engineer Office, Garrison,
N. D.

The army officer described the newly undertaken Garrison Dam project on the Missouri river. The great reservoir made by the dam will extend a distance of 200 miles upstream. The project is designed to adhere to the above principle. Its primary purpose is to capture spring floods, and release the water for irrigation, also for navigation, power and stream sanitation. The use for power and navigation would be secondary.

The dam to be built will be the world's largest rolled-earth-fill structure, containing about four times the material in the Denison Dam on the Red river between Oklahoma and Texas. This is the world's largest dam of this type at the present time, he stated.

Water Diversion

Diversion of water from one river to another was described at the same meeting as working like a blood transfusion into an ailing person by M. W. Torkelson of the Wisconsin Planning Board, Madison. In particular he described plans for taking water from the Wisconsin river to the Fox river for a period of about 120 days each year.

The Wisconsin river flows generally southward through central Wisconsin until it makes a westward turn and empties into the Mississippi. The Fox, to its east, finally empties into Lake Michigan. Its lower section is highly industrialized with factories that use great quantities of water. The plan is to supply the water needs of these factories during low-water seasons.

Under the scheme some 1,500
cubic feet per second of water would be diverted when needed. It would not be entirely lost to the Mississippi, however. It would make up in part for the water
now drained from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi by the Chicago
Drainage canal and the Illinois river. This shipping channel to the Mississippi takes from Lake Michigan about 1,500 cubic feet of water per second every day of the year.

MAJOR COUNTY BRIDGE PROBLEM—The county bridge crossing the Escanaba river at Wells, which carries 1,400 vehicles per day, is the major bridge reconstruction problem in the county. Built in 1911 at a cost of about $40,000, the bridge now has a safe or posted load limit of 5,000 pounds, which is far below the standard legal load of 18,000 pounds. Just what load carrying capacity the bridge does have cannot be determined because of its peculiar construction. The substructure has settled and the concrete has disintegrated. The survey of county road needs shows an estimate of $487,000 to replace the structure in the same location.

TEMPORARY SUPPORTS—South abutment of the Wells bridge threatens to collapse and wood timber supports have been erected there. "The only way we could tell how much the bridge would carry would be to keep piling weight on it until it broke," said J. T. Sharpsteen, county road superintendent-engineer. Moisture seeping through the concrete over a period of 36 years has carried most of the lime out of the cement.

BREAKING UP CAMP—National Guardsmen of the Delta county unit composed of men from Escanaba, Gladstone, Rock, Perkins and Wells are shown here unloading supplies at the State Fairgrounds Armory after a 15-hour drive from Camp Grayling in Lower Michigan, where they completed a two-week encampment Saturday. Company C of Escanaba was represented by 43 men, more than any other group in the Upper Peninsula. The Guardsmen fired the M1 rifle, saw a demonstration of the new .57 and .75 recoilless weapon, built a road, cleared an artillery range, demolished the remnants of a burned-out quartermaster warehouse, underwent basic training and lead the division parade and review before Governor Kim Sigler and the commander of the 46th division, General Ralph A. Loveland.

Play Program Here Progressing; Two Volunteer Service

Munising—The recreation program for Munising youth recently inaugurated under supervision of the city commissioners and directed by Ernest Johnson, received the active support of two more Munising residents when Miss Flora Smith volunteered to help instruct boys and girls in tennis Friday mornings at the local courts and John Bobb, high school instructor, volunteered his assistance at the baseball field Thursday from 2 to 3 p. m.

As a reminder to all youth in the city, Mr. Johnson, has listed the play areas and the time program is in progress there as follows:

Monday—9 to 12 a. m. Lincoln school ground
1:15 to 5:00 Brown's Addition play field.

Tuesday—9 to 12 a. m. Tannery area west of Bowman store
1:15 to 2:30 Softball diamond
2:30 to 5:00 Baseball ground.

Wednesday—9 to 12 a. m. Mather school ground
1:15 to 2:30 Tannery location

Thursday—9 to 12 a. m. Browns Addition play field
1:15 to 5:00 Softball and baseball games as arranged.

Friday—9 to 12 a. m. Tennis Instruction (Boys and Girls, bring tennis rackets.)
1:15 to 5:00 Softball and baseball as arranged (boys and girls).

The water front at the city dock is supervised by the lifeguard, Patricia Everett each day, the director said. Swimming starts at 10 o'clock and youngsters are asked not to come down around the "change house" until after that hour.

Morning sessions of the program are utilized for games and crafts and afternoon sessions for softball and baseball play. Mr. Johnson remarked. Both boys and girls are urged to take advantage of the supervised recreation, he said and added that in the past, the boys have been in the majority in attendance.

Mr. Johnson requests that parents do not send children to the various activities who have, as yet, not attended school as it is difficult to get them into a program with the older boys and girls.

City Firemen Fight CCI Mill Blaze For Two Hours Tuesday

Munising—Fire of undetermined origin threatened to destroy the CCI planing mill, West Munising, at about 12:55 a. m. Tuesday evening, but was brought under control by the Munising volunteer fire department before it gained great headway.

George MacKenzie, local fire chief, said the base of the fire was in the walls and a false roof of the structure and firemen had to battle for almost two hours to get at the heart of the blaze.

A passerby noticed the fire first and notified the fire department. Although the flame of the fire was arrested within a short time, continued smoldering in the walls and roof kept firemen at their task for two hours.

Patrolman Resigns From City Force

Munising—Clarence Freed, member of the city police force for the past one and one half years resigned his position Tuesday to accept other employment, Chief of Police Urban Trombley has announced.

The vacancy on the force will be filled as soon as possible to keep the summer complement of the force at five men, Chief Trombley said.

Death Of Hawkins Reviewed By Jury

Munising—A coroner's jury, which met last week to review the circumstances surrounding the death of John Hawkins, who was found dead in the office of the L.S. and I railroad freight depot in Munising Friday, June 6, failed to reach a verdict, it was reported.

The jurors reviewed numerous pictures but came to no definite opinion as to the manner in which Hawkins met his death. Hawkins is reported by law enforcement officers investigating the case, to have died of an intra-cerebral hemorrhage. Police Chief Urban Trombley, in charge of the investigation, said soon after the doctors report of death had been made, that the investigation would continue as the hemorrhage "could have caused Hawkins fall or could have been caused by the fall."

Nominations received the past week were: Sally Soukup, Arvilla Cota, Christine Revord and Lois Ann Pittsley.

The contest, sponsored here by the Munising Chamber of Commerce, with the commerce directors as judges will end Aug. 11 and the girl chosen to reign as queen of Munising and Alger county will be sent to Escanaba to compete in the U. Survey Shows Need Of $4,675,838 Program On Roads Of Delta County

If the Delta county road commission had $4,675,838 (which it does not have) it would have just enough money to cover the cost of new county road and bridge construction as revealed in a recently completed survey of county road needs.

The survey was made by J. T. Sharpsteen, Delta road commission superintendent-engineer, as part of a state-wide state and county and city highway need survey being made by committees of the Michigan Good Roads Federation.

Gov. Sigler has called for the reports to be completed by Jan. 1, 1948. In his message vetoing the one-cent gasoline tax bill the governor directed attention to the need for such a survey of road and highway needs so that he would have specific information to present to a special session of the legislature in January.

Second In Nation
The financial future of the highway program in Michigan is expected to be materially affected by the findings of the roads survey committees. Michigan is the second state in the nation to undertake such a complete and coordinated evaluation of its road needs.

A similar study was completed recently in California by J. P. Buckley, who has been employed to direct the survey in Michigan.

Final authority on the road needs inventory is a Michigan Good Roads Federation committee composed of Don B. Smith, chairman, head of the Michigan Trucking association; Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner; Leroy C. Smith, Wayne county road engineer; J. F. Gibbs of the Michigan Municipal League; Richard Harfst of the Automobile Club of Michigan; and Walter Toebe of the Michigan Road Builders' association.

The survey is financed by organizations represented on the committee named above and by the Public Roads Administration. Purpose of the survey is to determine the total needs on all roads in the state, including state, county and municipalities; and the relative needs as between the above-named systems.

$3,400,950 for Roads
According to Michigan Good Roads Federation standards and procedures surveys are being made on the several systems. The county road needs committee is composed of twelve county road engineers including two from the Upper Peninsula—Sharpsteen of Delta county and C. F. Winkler of Houghton county.

Following a meeting of the committee with Buckley and Jack Schaub in Lansing, and the establishment of standards and procedures for making the county road needs inventory, the first step was the preparation of minimum county road transportation system. This system was divided into Class A and Class B roads and was designed to serve the centers of population and centers of interest in the various counties.

The inventory reveals that in the Class B county road system in Delta there is a total of 237.4 miles needing reconstruction or improvement at a total estimated cost of $2,741,150. In the Class C system in the county there is a total of 134.2 miles in need of improvement and the estimated cost is $659,800.

Big Bridge Program
The survey includes an inventory of bridge needs. In Delta county there are 35 bridges that do not meet tolerable standards and must be rebuilt over a period of years. All of the new construction estimates, of course, are based on the standards established by the Federation. The cost of this reconstruction is estimated at $1,274,888.

Since Gov. Sigler has said that the road needs survey will provide specific information which he may submit to the state legislature in January, it is possible that the present financial difficulties of the county road commissions may be alleviated in any general revamping of highway financing. The survey reports from the counties are to be submitted by Aug. 15. Delta county's report is already in.

Harry Greene of Garden, chairman of the Delta county road commission, yesterday pointed out that the commission is now short on funds in this county and there is no immediate prospect of improvement.

"We need funds to match federal aid allocations for secondary road improvements," he pointed out. "The secondary road federal aid has been $36,000 a year and this has accumulated for three years since we had no matching funds. Our finances now cover only the barest maintenance costs."

Story Hour
Munising—Miss Edna Erickson, librarian, announced yesterday that she will read three stories at the children's story hour at 10 a. m. today in the township library at the Mather high school. The stories will be: "Little Red Riding Hood," "Millions of Cats" and "Big Fur Secret." All children of school age, grades 1-4 are invited to attend. Pre-school children attending must be accompanied by an older brother or sister.

Case Dismissed
Munising—The charge of assault and battery brought against Mrs. Geraldine Carlson by Mrs. Grace Forshey was dismissed from court yesterday upon mutual agreement of both parties. Prosecuting Attorney R. E. O'Brien stated yesterday.

Dismissal of the case yesterday followed a postponement of the jury trial of the case last Friday when both the defendant and the plaintiff failed to show up.

A. M. Bowerman of Munising is spending a week in Milwaukee on business.

Has Gilty Look—Screen actress Kyle MacDonnell goes on the gold standard as she models a two-piece bathing suit of gold metallic thread in Hollywood. The suit is not just for sand-lounging either, as the elasticized fabric is guaranteed water repellent.

Schaffer

Potvin-Seymour

Schaffer, Mich.—The Sacred Heart church of Schaffer, with beautiful altar decorations of white gladiolas and baby breath was a scene of much interest Saturday morning when Rose Lima Potvin, daughter of Mr. Arthur Potvin, became the bride of Homer Charles Seymour, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Seymour, both of Schaffer.

At a nine o'clock nuptial high mass, the young folks read their marriage vows at the double ring ceremony, at which Rev. Fr. Wilfred Pelletier officiated.

The young girls choir with Mrs. Blanche Seymour, organist, furnished the music during the ceremony. Mrs. Roy Seymour sang a most unusual "Ave Maria" at the offertory.

The bride and all her attendants who marched in to the strains of the traditional wedding march, was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Potvin. She placed her bouquet on the Blessed Virgin's altar at the beginning of the ceremony and used a white prayer book, orchid and white satin markers during the mass.

The prayer book was a gift of the groom. The groom was escorted to the altar by his mother.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white satin and silk marquisette fashioned with long sleeves and marquisette beaded yoke with a full length skirt and long train. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a tiara of beaded rhinestones and was edged with Chantilly lace. Her maid of honor, Evelyn Seymour, sister of the groom, and bridesmaids, Dolores Racicot, Eunice Derocher, and Stella Potvin, wore the same styled dresses of white taffeta and net with headpieces of white hair braid and wore arm bouquets of red roses.

The girls all wore double stranded pearls, gifts of the bride and groom. The best man was Stanley Mozier and the ushers were Robert Seymour, brother of the bridegroom, Walter Varadhan and Henry Boniarz. All boys wore the black dress suits.

The little flower girl, Margaret Ann Potvin, niece of the bride, wore a long white taffeta dress and white lace headpiece and carried a white bouquet centered with a red rose. Her white pearls were a gift of the bride and groom.

The ring bearer, Robert Lis, cousin of the groom, wore a white suit and carried the rings on a heart shaped satin pillow.

Mrs. Seymour wore a pink jersey dress with gold trimmings and white accessories. Her corsage and those of the bride's sisters were of pink tiger lilies.

A breakfast for seventy-five relatives was served at the Bark River Roosevelt Hall. The table was set on white linen used by the bride's parents 45 years ago. Three hundred relatives and friends were served at the 5 o'clock reception followed by a dance.

Schaffer
Potvin-Seymour

Schaffer, Mich.—The Sacred Heart church of Schaffer, with beautiful altar decorations of white gladiolas and baby breath was a scene of much interest Saturday morning when Rose Lima Potvin, daughter of Mr. Arthur Potvin, became the bride of Homer Charles Seymour, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Seymour, both of Schaffer.

At a nine o'clock nuptial high mass, the young folks read their marriage vows at the double ring ceremony, at which Rev. Fr. Wilfred Pelletier officiated.

The young girls choir with Mrs. Blanche Seymour, organist, furnished the music during the ceremony. Mrs. Roy Seymour sang a most unusual "Ave Maria" at the offertory.

The bride and all her attendants who marched in to the strains of the traditional wedding march, was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Potvin. She placed her bouquet on the Blessed Virgin's altar at the beginning of the ceremony and used a white prayer book, orchid and white satin markers during the mass.

The prayer book was a gift of the groom. The groom was escorted to the altar by his mother.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white satin and silk marquisette fashioned with long sleeves and marquisette beaded yoke with a full length skirt and long train. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a tiara of beaded rhinestones and was edged with Chantilly lace. Her maid of honor, Evelyn Seymour, sister of the groom, and bridesmaids, Dolores Racicot, Eunice Derocher, and Stella Potvin, wore the same styled dresses of white taffeta and net with headpieces of white hair braid and wore arm bouquets of red roses.

The girls all wore double stranded pearls, gifts of the bride and groom. The best man was Stanley Mozier and the ushers were Robert Seymour, brother of the bridegroom, Walter Varadhan and Henry Boniarz. All boys wore the black dress suits.

The little flower girl, Margaret Ann Potvin, niece of the bride, wore a long white taffeta dress and white lace headpiece and carried a white bouquet centered with a red rose. Her white pearls were a gift of the bride and groom.

NEED UNIFORM TRAFFIC LAWS

Wide Variation Noted In Driving Regulations Among States

New York (AP)—The drive led by President Truman for greater uniformity of state traffic laws has been gaining ground, but the opportunities are still great for a motorist to end up in a morgue or jail by observing the laws of his own state on the highways of another.

This year at least 27 state legislatures have made changes in their traffic and highway safety laws, an Associated Press survey shows. The President's highway safety conference reported that 21 have adopted one or more of the visions of the uniform vehicle code which the experts have been recommending since 1925.

A host of special measures also was adopted in the hope of reducing the effectiveness of America's favorite weapon for killing Americans.

North Carolina doubled its highway patrol, Tennessee added 40 men, Indiana demanded that all physicians treating epileptics and others suffering from nervous disorders to report their names to the state board of health, which in turn gives them to the motor vehicle bureau.

Driving Laws Vary
Nebraska stiffened its maximum drunk driving penalty to three years in jail. Iowa passed a law requiring courts to record all non-parking traffic violators on the back of the driver's license. Texas, among other things, now demands that drivers striking unattended vehicles leave written notice of their name and address.

South Dakota now is the only state which does not insist on a driver's license, but there are three—Kansas, South Dakota and Missouri—which still do not require examinations.

In other respects, the variety in state traffic laws is almost as great as it would be if the 48 states were 48 different countries.

Fourteen states don't declare speed limits in miles per hour on the open highway but say the speed shall be reasonable and prudent; 12 specify limits ranging from 40 to 60 mph; 22 have adopted "Prima Facie" limits, usually 50 to 60. Where there is a prima facie limit of, say, 60, a man driving 50 could still be guilty of breaking the law if the road conditions at the time demanded a lesser speed.

Need Uniformity
Limits in residential and business sections across the nation vary from 15 to 30 in downtown areas and from 20 to 35 in residential districts.

Twenty-one states prescribe the three-way hand and arm signals recommended in the code for turning. Stopping or slowing down; 10 have adopted the signals with variations; 12 use signals which do not conform to the code, and six states leave it to the driver's imagination and hope the man behind him will understand.

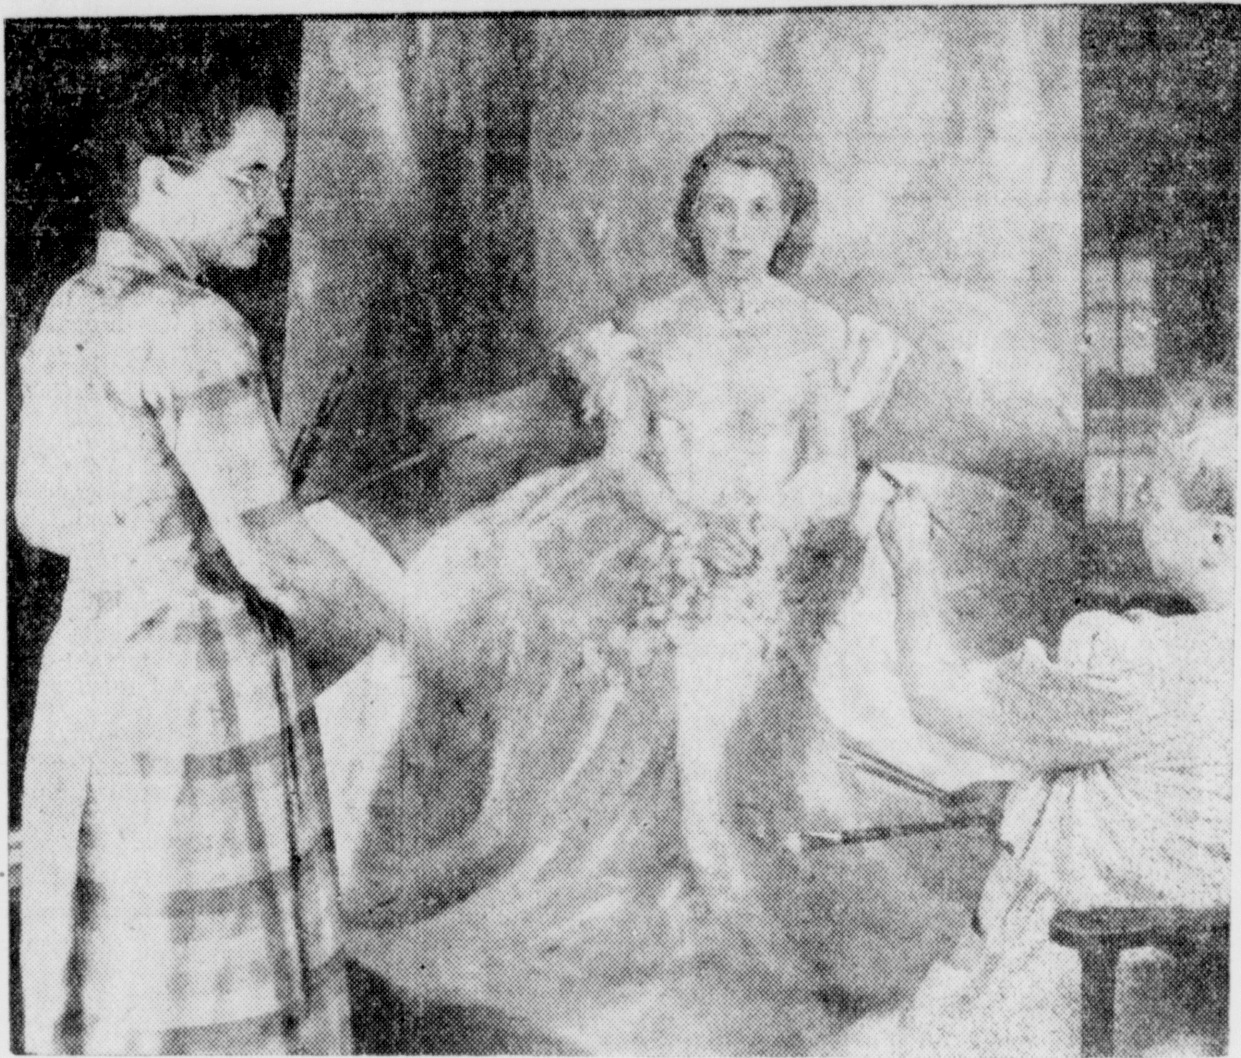

In Arkansas, they'll give you a ticket if you have more than three people in the front seat. In Alabama, you'll get one if you have more than two. In 13 other states, there is no statutory limitation.

Sixteen states require periodic inspections of cars. Three states have such a law but it's either irregular or was suspended during the war.

In 41 states, you must dim your headlights when approaching another car. In seven states, there is no law preventing you from blinding the other fellow into the grave.

Peru ordered all churches to display the national flag, to create a "spirit of love for the fatherland."

Germany's "pocket battleships" cost her about $1850 a ton to build.

The large oil painting is now nearly completed and is unusual because of the skillful blending of the efforts of the two artists into a harmonious and pleasing work. (Photo by Helen Cloutier)

Local Artists Combine Talents In Portraiture

Artists, like other creative workers, seldom find it possible to combine their talents with that of another. When they do, however, the result is often highly successful.

An example of creative collaboration is the large portrait now nearing completion in the studio of Mrs. Victor Powers, Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba. Mrs. Powers and Mrs. Victor Powers of 1111 Eighth avenue south, have been working on the four by five feet oil painting since June 20. The subject of the portrait is Miss Alicia Byrne, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. K. W. Byrne of Chicago. Designed from photographs of the model at her debut, Miss Byrne came to Escanaba recently to sit for the artists so they might work from life in completing the face and for final retouching.

The two artists have worked on the painting at two and sometimes four hours a day since it was begun more than a month ago. Their critic has been another Escanaba artist, Mrs. T. M. Cassidy, with whom they have been closely associated in art study and painting. The three women have decorated the walls of the studio with large murals, dynamic and colorful paintings from Paul Bunyan prints. The murals depict episodes in the life of the legendary lumberjack hero—fights, Paul and his axe, Paul felling a tree, and Paul and Babe, the blue ox.

A Statement To Our Customers About Resale

PRICES of PRODUCTS

Built by International Harvester Company

Here at Harvester we are concerned over the fact that a growing number of our products are appearing on the resale market at greatly inflated prices.

As manufacturers, we try to produce at the lowest possible cost. We cannot set the prices at which our products—tractors, motor trucks, farm implements, refrigeration, and industrial power equipment—are sold. We can and do suggest retail prices which the great majority of our dealers adopt as their retail prices.

$20,000,000 Price Reduction

Our basic price policy was publicly stated in March, 1947, when we announced price reductions at the rate of approximately $20,000,000 per year on our products. At that time, Fowler McCormick, Chairman of the Board, said: "ANY PRICE IS TOO HIGH IF IT CAN BE REDUCED."

Practically all of our dealers cooperated with this policy and passed on the savings to their customers.

The objective of the price reductions was to make it possible for customers to buy our products, which they need so badly, at lower prices. Naturally, this purpose is defeated when our products are sold by anybody at inflated prices.

IH Production at All-Time Peak

Inflated prices are caused by the difference between supply and demand. To increase supply, we now have the greatest number of employees in history on our payrolls—almost 90,000 in the United States, as against about 60,000 prewar. Large new plants are getting into production in Louisville, Evansville, and Melrose Park. A fourth will soon be in operation in Memphis. The men and women now employed are turning out the greatest quantities of IH products of all kinds that we have ever made. These are also the finest products we have ever made, and recognition of that fact is an important contributing factor to the demand for them.

Distribution to Dealers

But even record-breaking production is not sufficient to give your dealer—and other IH dealers—enough products to meet today's demand. We have tried to make the fairest possible geographical allocation of our products so that every dealer would get a fair share, and we know that dealers, in most cases, have tried earnestly to make the fairest possible distribution to their customers.

But we also know that many of our products—far too many—are being resold at inflated prices. The public criticism and resentment of these resales are of real concern to us, as we know they must be to our dealers, because such reactions endanger the good will of both the dealer and the Company in any community.

Distribution to Customers

Experience shows that many IH new products are being resold by users who decide they can continue to make out with their old equipment after they have had an inflated offer for their new equipment. To eliminate this, many dealers are taking measures to be sure that equipment purchased is for their customers' own use and is not to be resold.

Nearly all IH dealers, we believe, are now using the basis of PRESENT NEED as their primary guide for the sale of scarce products. The customer whose need is real and urgent is not likely to resell.

What Price Should You Pay?

While it may take a little more time to get delivery, we urge our customers to consider all of the factors mentioned here, before paying more than the list price for any IH product. Any IH dealer or branch can furnish the suggested list price for any IH product.

We know that the overwhelming majority of IH dealers are as much opposed to inflated prices as we are. In the public interest, we have already asked their cooperation—and are now asking the cooperation of customers—in correcting this situation.

Specific Duties Aid
In Close Living

BY ALICIA HART

Know how to solve the problem of living harmoniously with a large family or several roommates in limited space?

Follow a plan under which specific duties and responsibilities are assigned to each member of the household. That's the advice of three girl singers who work and live together in harmony.

The vocalists of Vaughn Monroe's radio show—Mary Jo Thomas, Tinker Cunningham and Arline Traux, all of Denton, Tex.—think that without a plan there might be discord in their small New York apartment.

Under the Texans' system, duties and responsibilities of house-keeping are equally shared. Each week one girl is assigned to K. P. duty and another to the "commisary." The third takes over cleaning chores and the watering pot that keeps a tiny terrace bloom.

There is a rotation of duties from week to week. Sour notes are also kept out of their harmony, these singers say, by making an equal division of living space. Closet and bureau space is allocated to the last precious inch. To guarantee that a bureau drawer will be equitably shared by two girls, for example, the division of space is penciled on a paper lining and each user's name is scrawled in bold letters on her half of the domain.

Mary Jo, Tinker and Arline all agree that small quarters necessitate order and strict habits of personal tidiness.

"Imagine the chaos," says this trio in loud chorus, "if clothes weren't picked up, toiletries weren't cleared from a dresser top, towels were left in a heap on the bathroom floor, closet shelves and bureau drawers weren't kept in order!"

This correspondent, during a flight over southwest Java in a Dutch B-25 photo-reconnaissance plane, observed wide application of the Indonesians' scorched earth policy.

When we flew toward the sea past Wilkinkops Bay, fires were seen everywhere for three-quarters of an hour. I saw at least three rubber estates ablaze. I counted 200 fires and then stopped counting.

Our course extended east to Tasikmalaja, north across Java to Cheribon and then west again. From Tasikmalaja on there was a flaming area.

COWS THRIVE ON CELLULOSE

Spruce Wood Is Feeding Both Livestock And Newspaper Press

London (SS)—Cows and newspaper presses are rivals for the same kind of raw material—cellulose from spruce wood.

The International Chemical Congress here was told that cattle can be fed upon sulfite pulp of exactly the same sort that newsprint paper is made from.

This will be unhappy news for newspaper editors throughout the world who are acutely aware of the shortage of newsprint paper and pulp.

During the war in Norway three-quarters of a million tons of cellulose were used as cattle fodder, following experiments that demonstrated under what conditions animals could eat it and benefit from it.

Drs. H. Hvidsten and T. Homb of the Norwegian Agricultural school at Vallebeck reported to the chemists that the cellulose must be supplemented by protein material in order that its carbohydrate content may be properly utilized by the animals. For pigs, however, the cellulose was reported to have no feeding value.

The cellulose is bleachable sulfite cellulose from spruce wood with a lignin content of 1 percent to 2 percent.

Chopped straw processed with a 1.2 percent to 1.5 percent sodium hydroxide solution was also found to have value as an animal feed.

In both Switzerland and Denmark acids were extensively used during the war to preserve for winter animal feeding green grass and other silage crops. One method consists of spraying a 5 percent solution of formic acid over the green stuff in the silo. A cheaper way is to use a combined solution of hydrochloric and sulfuric acids, a method originated by Dr. A. I. Virtanen and called by his initials, the AIV method.

France-Argentina Trade Pact Draws U.S. Protests Of U.S.

BY JOHN SCALI

Washington, July 29 (AP)—The United States has objected in vain to what it considers a discriminatory clause in a commercial treaty recently concluded between France and Argentina, diplomatic officials said today.

The officials said the French and Argentine governments rejected the American objection and signed the pact last week in Paris in the presence of Mrs. Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president.

Under this five-year agreement, Argentina will extend France $148,200,000 in credit to buy food and other supplies from the South American Republic.

The United States maintained that a shipping clause in the pact would discriminate against merchant shipping from other countries. This provision, it argued, would tend to restrict competition.

Under the clause France and Argentina promised to use each other's vessels exclusively in transporting goods between the two countries. This clause is interpreted as applying not only to products purchased with the credits but to all purchases, public and private.

Only Corn Enjoys Nation's Heat Wave

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the nation baked in 90 to 100 degrees temperatures Tuesday and to a stalk of corn, it was enjoyable.

The weather bureau at Chicago reported these areas sweltering: the southwest, the Gulf states, the Mississippi valley, the middle Missouri valley, the southern plains, southern California, and, of course, the California desert region. The forecast was for more of the same Wednesday.

Excepting the desert, the hottest area was in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and western Missouri where temperatures of 100 or more were common.

The hot days and nights were called "excellent corn growing weather" by the forecasters, mindful of the slow start the country's corn crop got this spring and summer.

The nation's two top corn producers, Iowa and Illinois, had a range of readings from the middle nineties to over the 100 mark. In Sioux City, Ia., a new state high record for the year was set when the mercury boiled to 107.

Lincoln, Neb., had a high of 104, Sioux Falls, S. Dak., 105, and Needles, Calif., 107. Chicago, with 94, recorded its second warmest day of the summer.

Only in the extreme northern plains states and the Pacific northwest was there moderation of temperatures. North Dakota and Montana were down in the middle eighties after highs of a 100 Monday. Seattle had an unseasonably low 67, at noon Tuesday.

On the eastern seaboard the readings, while not hot, were getting there. Philadelphia had 87, New York City 85 and Bangor, Me., had 82. The eastern forecast was warmer Wednesday.

MUCH LIGNITE IS AVAILABLE

Could Yield Fuel And Chemicals For Many Years

Washington, (SS)—Vast lignite deposits in the United States can contribute quantities of fuel, gasoline and chemicals when methods for treating this so-called brown coal are developed. It can be shipped long distances as mined because of a tendency to slack and ignite.

The principal American deposits are in North Dakota, an area provided with ordinary coal only by long hauls. Approximately 60 percent of the known reserves are in this state. Neighboring Montana and South Dakota also have lignite. It is estimated that 98 percent of America's lignite is in these three states.

When lignite is mined, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines, it contains from 30 percent to 40 percent moisture, and when dried in air it slacks and ignites. This government office is asking Congress for an appropriation of $750,000 to establish a research laboratory in the North Dakota lignite area to develop a feasible drying process, methods of making safe briquettes for storage, shipment and use, and processes of obtaining from the material many of the widely used chemicals now derived from coal and petroleum.

Lignite as mined has about one-half the heating value of the best bituminous coal. The Bureau expects that treatment methods may increase its heating value per unit of weight at least 50 percent. This would permit economical shipping and use of natural deposits that hold nearly 32 percent of America's unmined fuel tonnage.

The use of lignite as fuel and a source of gasoline and other chemicals is not new. America's special problem centers around the fact that the deposits are not located near industrial areas. Germany has long used a lignitic coal somewhat similar in character to deposit in this country. Much was burned at the mines to make electric power for transportation points where needed. Germany used its lignite as a source of gasoline and fuel oil during the war, and also obtained needed chemicals from it.

Lesnevich Tangles With Mauriello In Brooklyn Tonight

Brooklyn, July 29 (AP)—Gus Lesnevich, the world light heavyweight champion, and Tami Mauriello, the Bronx Beer Barrel, will try to knock each other's block off tomorrow night in the name of sweet charity.

They tangle in a ten-round in Ebbets Field for the Damon Runyon Memorial Cancer fund, and Promoter Andy Niederreiter, who is staging the show along with the New York Boxing Writers, figures there'll be a gate of $125,000 or so, with some $30,000 going to the war on the dread disease. The two thumpers will slice 60 percent of the net gate.

About 25,000 cash customers will turn out to build up this pot. Andy estimates, making it the year's fanciest outdoor ear-ascrambling in these parts, what with Joe Louis out playing golf somewhere until a contender who can attract more than his immediate family at the box office comes along.

NO WHEAT CUTS FOR NEXT YEAR

Government To Call For Another Big Crop To Level Out Prices

Washington, July 29 (AP)—The government, faced with high grain and food prices and with continued shortages abroad, has abandoned plans to reduce wheat production goals for next year's crop.

It is expected to announce within a few days a call for another big wheat crop next year. Seeding time for next year's winter wheat is only a few weeks away.

Aware that much of the wheat land has been under a heavy production strain since early in the war the Agriculture department had hoped that the wheat acreage could be reduced to give some of the overworked soil a chance to rest.

There is danger, too, of dry weather hitting the Great Plains wheat area at any time. That could revive destructive dust storms such as those that played havoc there during the mid-thirties.

Several weeks ago, before this year's crop prospects darkened due to a cool wet spring, the department was considering a wheat goal of about 68,000,000 acres. This would have been a reduction of about 9,000,000 acres or about 12 percent from the acreage planted to produce this year's record crop.

Tentative plans now call for a 1948 goal of between 70,000,000 and 72,000,000 acres. The goal for this year's crop was 70,700,000 acres, although farmers—to the nation's good fortune—exceeded it by nearly 7,000,000 acres.

The department could have gone ahead with a reduced wheat goal had corn products turned out more favorably. But inasmuch as wheat and corn are interchangeable in many food and livestock uses, officials feel that it is essential to have another large wheat crop to assure plentiful grain supplies until farmers have a chance to grow another large crop in 1948.

FORD CO. FACES STRIKE THREAT

Pension Plan Bogging; 107,000 Employees May Walk Out

Detroit, July 29 (AP)—For the second time in little more than a month, the Ford Motor Co. today faced a strike threat from its 107,000 CIO production employees.

The CIO United Auto Workers executive board was called to meet Saturday to answer a request from Ford union leaders for the right to call a strike.

No date for any potential walk-out was made public. Officials of the UAW-CIO said the latest deadlock stemmed from new union demands growing out of the Taft Hartley labor law, and a gradual bogging down of plans for a $15,000,000 annual pension for Ford employees.

The union members voted to strike in June but action was deferred when the UAW-CIO and the company reached tentative agreement on the precedent-setting pension plan announced June 27.

Richard T. Leonard, vice-president in charge of the union's Ford department, said the pension proposal had become enmeshed in arguments over details and that progress was "stalled."

Little Girls Buck Ringling Circus In Cut-Rate Lemonade

Detroit, July 29 (AP)—Three small business women bucked the world's largest circus Monday and emerged as winners of the economic struggle.

Pat Stewart, 11, her sister, Leona, 7, and Karen Thilson, 5, opened a lemonade stand on an orange crate strategically located in the middle of the entrance to Ringling Bros. & Barnum and Bailey.

Then the fledgling business firm began a price war with the big top by pegging their product at four cents a glass. The standard circus price is 10 cents.

Circus officials reached a compromise with their competitors just as police arrived to enforce a city ordinance against unlicensed sale of beverages.

The circus reestablished its lemonade monopoly by buying out the pig-tailed merchants for three tickets to the big show.

Workmen Trapped In Weidman Mill; Both Near Death

Weidman, Mich., July 29 (AP)—A gate in a mill race broke today setting in motion a cogwheel and trapping two workmen beneath a falling chain that beat them nearly to death.

It took fellow workers at the Weidman Milling Co. an hour to block off waters of the race and rescue Isaac Spencer, 50, and William Kaninsky, 49. Spencer was near death in a Mt. Pleasant, Mich., hospital.

The race blocked off the waters of the race before climbing scaffolding inside the mill to repair the cogwheel.

The gate broke, allowing waters of the race to rush into the mill where they knocked down the scaffolding and trapped the two workmen in a tiny area behind the cogwheel.

As the wheel began to spin, a heavy chain attached to it beat the men into insensibility.

VALLEY FORCE TO BE REBUILT

Replicas Of Log Huts Used By Washington Will Rise Again

(AP) Newsfeatures
Valley Forge, Pa.—Replicas of log huts used by Gen. George Washington's "immortals" will rise again on the old camp grounds at Valley Forge.

Seventy-four huts will be restored, the first four in the rear of the Isaac Potts house which was Washington's headquarters. Others will be in groups of 10 or less at places where various detachments were stationed during the bitter winter of 1777-78 when 3,000 soldiers died.

Valley Forge Park Commission and the Pennsylvania Historical Society are carrying out the project with state funds under direction of Architect G. Edwin Brumbaugh, an authority on colonial construction.

Soldier Housing
The huts, 16 feet long, 14 wide and 6½ high at the sides, will follow exactly specifications laid down by Washington. They are peak-roofed with four heavy stones at the corners and fitted out with fireplaces "made of clay 12 inches thick" and surmounted with log chimneys lined with clay.

Commission Chairman Norris D. Wright said location of the groups of huts corresponds with a map drawn by Gen. Louis LeBeque DuPortail, Washington's chief engineer, on the pommel of his saddle as he rode through the camp.

Fortified Area
Gen. DuPortail was one of a group of French officers who came with the Marquis de Lafayette to join the revolutionary army. He was in charge of the fortification of Valley Forge and completed works which, in the minds of American and British officers, made the camp well nigh impregnable.

"With Washington's orders to guide us and General DuPortail's plan ready for reproduction," Wright said, "we will be able to show these huts as they were seen by the soldiers of the revolution. They will be accurate to the last degree and will be a living bit of American history to everyone who sees them."

Choice In School-

Schoolcraft county delivered a majority vote to its favorite son candidate, U. S. A. Heggblom, in yesterday's special primary election for the Republican nomination for U. S. representative, but the vote in the county was exceptionally light. Only 765 ballots were counted for the seven candidates for the Republican nomination and the two Democratic candidates.

Harold Beaton, of St. Ignace, was the county Democrat's choice for the Democratic nomination over his rival, Violet Patterson, of Perkins, but the total vote in this race was only 57 to 53.

Heggblom polled 312 votes to lead the field in the Republican contest with Speaker Knox of Sault Ste. Marie a poor second with 116 votes. Other candidates received the following totals: George Gierbach 67, George Harvey 60, Charles E. Potter 55, Otto Bishop 18, William Forsyth 8.

Water Pollution
Serious Problem
For City Fathers

Discussion of a recent notice relative to stream pollution served as the state board of conservation on the city of Manistique, took up most of the time of an extremely brief session of the Manistique city council Monday evening.

The notice cites the city to show cause why a suit should not be instituted during the city to abate pollution of water emerging from the Manistique river and other sources into the local Lake Michigan area.

The city must report before a stream control commission meeting in Escanaba on August 21.

Concerning water pollution in this area, City Manager James Deane submitted reports on samples of water taken along lake frontage both within the city limits and adjacent areas. All of the samples taken indicated evidence of water pollution was small—so small, in fact, that the commissioning master present could have been produced by decomposing seaweed and vegetable growth on the beach as much as from water flowing from the river.

Further data will be submitted at the Escanaba meeting.

The city manager was delegated to attend a meeting Tuesday at Marquette, sponsored by the League of Municipalities where the current weight and gas tax were to be the chief items up for discussion.

Allowance of bills was the only other matter of importance taken up at the meeting.

Smelt Are Victims Of Nervous Malady

Lansing—(AP)—Nervous smelt are interesting the fisheries research institute of the state conservation department.

Investigation of the epidemic of smelt deaths in Crystal Lake, near Beulah, in July did not reveal the cause of death, although the department found the smelt suffered from nervous disorders.

An autopsy report on the smelt revealed they had "an abnormality, with pathological implications, of the nervous system."

Some of the safe deposit vault doors in the United States banks have four locks with 16,351,000 different combinations.

POLICE SEARCH
FOR ASSAILANTNear Attack Occurs At River Bridge Early
Tuesday Morning

Local authorities are searching for a man five feet, eight inches in height, weight about 160, about 25 years of age, who combs his hair straight back and is suffering from a bitten finger and, possibly, scratches. When seen last he wore khaki trousers and a blue shirt.

This man is wanted for assaulting a local 18-year-old girl in the early hours of Tuesday morning.

The girl, whose name the authorities requested be kept out of the report, was grabbed by her assailant just before reaching the river bridge. She fought him off and in the tussle they both lost their balance and rolled down the embankment.

William Fuhst, on night duty at the Raffay and Romberg filling station at the corner of Elk and River streets, heard the girl's screams and saw the couple topple over the edge of the walk, then he ran to the rescue. The assailant fled at his approach and he remained to assist the girl. The girl was bruised from the fall and in the tussle her clothes were torn, but she was not seriously hurt.

State police were notified and the search began. One or two strangers answering the description have been examined but were released. The girl said she could readily identify the man.

She says the man followed her several blocks before assaulting her.

A checkup of local police records reveals that this was the first time in more than 10 years that any case of this sort has been reported to the police.

Expectant Mother

Jackson, Mich., July 29, (AP)—A young, expectant mother was in a local hospital today under treatment for shock and hysteria while a search was under way for two men who criminally attacked her Saturday.

Police gave information of the case today, but withheld the woman's name.

Officers said two men entered her home, near Munith, about midnight Saturday night while her husband was absent. The same two men had stopped at the house earlier to ask directions, officers said the woman told them.

The police search was guided by descriptions given by the victim. One man was short and dark, about 19 years old, wearing a green and yellow plaid shirt. The other was about 36, had light curly hair, and wore a white shirt and blue overalls, according to the descriptions.

Drug Streptomycin Gets Good Results In TB Treatments

Petoskey, Mich. (AP)—"Astounding" results in the use of the drug streptomycin in treatment of tuberculosis were reported to the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium commission.

Dr. William DeKleine, commission chairman, said in making the report, however, that lack of funds would hold up the use of the drug in state institutions. He said treatment averaged a cost of $400 a patient.

The "astounding" results Dr. DeKleine said, were experienced in the treatment of six cases. Unless the legislature grants more money to the sanatoriums, he said, the availability of the drug will be limited.

The commission hopes to begin construction of a new sanatorium in Houghton in the spring. Dr. DeKleine said, adding that the legislature should be asked for funds to build a new institution at Oshkosh, in Kalamazoo county.

With these two, Dr. DeKleine said, Michigan would be in position to handle its needs for some time.

Members attending the commission meeting were Dr. Dean C. Burns, Petoskey; Dr. E. J. O'Brien, Detroit; Victor D. Laine, Iron River and Paul Martin, Lansing.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

When Lyle Utt, able rightfielder for the Escanaba Veterans of Foreign Wars, went to Menominee last Sunday, he thought the visit would be just another ball game. The old pitcher, the old club, and you either win or lose, except that mainly the Escanaba Vets have been winning.

They won this one, too—9-7 in 13 hard-fought innings, no less! But imagine Utt's surprise when early in the game he ran across an old German prison of war camp buddy in the person of one Roger Anderson, of the Menominee Legion team, who at the moment was keeping the Legion bench warm.

Anderson wasn't just another fellow named "Roger" to Utt. On no! They recognized each other immediately, according to our informant, who has a reputation for veracity and beats his wife only occasionally. Anderson and Utt spent several months together in a German POW camp before they were rescued during the Yank advance into Germany. And what a pow-wow the rival softballers had when they spotted each other in Menominee Sunday.

Golfers flourish the Upper Peninsula are beginning to warm up to the task of bidding for championship honors in some flight or other in the annual U. P. tournament to be held at Menominee's picturesque Riverside and North Shore courses Aug. 14-17.

Several Escanabans are among those rated a chance to win the championship flight. To name only a few, we give you Harry "Cookey" Hogan, who beat Frank Hruska, of Menominee, for the title in the 1938 event over the American and Canadian Soo courses; Don Feller, the defending champion, and Elmer Swanson, runnerup last year to Feller at Escanaba.

Hogan, Feller, Swanson and Don St. Cyr played a tuncup exhibition in Menominee last weekend and acquitted themselves well. Hruska, however, who is as husky as his name, topped honors with a 39-38-77, one stroke better than Hogan and Swanson. The latter had 38-40. Feller and St. Cyr played practice matches with Bruce Christensen and Ken Liljedahl of Menominee and wound up in the 80s, which is not to Feller's liking.

Feller, who will defend his title in Menominee Aug. 14-17, is working hard on his game to achieve the mastery he had last season when he was hitting the ball well all summer. He hasn't been quite so consistent this summer. But he is dangerous always and will be a factor in the 1947 title chase, no doubt about that.

To give you some idea of how Don's game is going this summer, we call your attention to the inter-club match with Marquette a month ago. Playing against Phil Connors, he went out in 41 and then started burning on the way in. He had five straight birdies the second nine and finished with 34 for a 75, low for the day. So don't count Don out. As Cotton Leonard said: "He can be off his game and still shoot in the 70s."

OFF THE CUFF: Warren Smith, who plays professional football with the Pittsburgh Steelers, is spending his vacation with relatives and friends in Escanaba. Belated congratulations to Milton Jacobsen, who struck out 22 men when Fayette defeated Rock in a Bay de Noc league game last June 29. That is a league record.

Mary McMullin, the Green Bay teen-ager who recently won the Wisconsin women's golf title for the third straight time, once beat the Great Babe Dickerson Zaharias. She achieved that in an early round of the women's national last year. It was Babe's last loss before her amazing win streak that was climaxed by her recent triumph in the British women's championship.

Pheasant Situation 'Poor' In Michigan

The conservation commission learned yesterday that the pheasant situation, bad for a number of years, may be worse this year.

Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster told the commission the outlook is poor despite peak farm production and establishment of food patches, refuges and sharecropping to leave grain in fields on state lands.

The commission will meet Aug. 3 and 4 at Higgins Lake to determine pheasant and other fall hunting regulations.

"Apparently this is not a local situation but rather a country-wide condition," Hoffmaster declared. Representatives of fish and game departments of fish and game departments met at Higgins Lake for their yearly conference earlier this month, he said, decried the fact that pheasants are down in number in every part of the country.

Simultaneously, the conservation department announced that the first of the 1947 crop of pheasants from the Mason game farm were being released this week.

A total of 950 ten-months-old cocks in the first planting will go to the Dansville, Barry County and Gratiot-Saginaw state game areas, the Swan Creek wildlife experimental station, and the Waterloo state recreation area.

Cubs Beat Phils With Five-Run Rally In 7th

Chicago, July 29. (AP)—Held to two singles for six innings, the Chicago Cubs broke loose with a five-run seventh inning to overcome the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 4, and run their successes to 13 out of 14 against their Philadelphia "cousins."

Four hits and four walks were contributed in the big Chicago seventh by three Philadelphia pitchers before the Cubs were retired with the bases loaded. Hank Wyse, who relieved starter Doyle Lade after Philadelphia had gained a 4-0 lead in the second, was credited with the victory, his fourth of the year.

Al Jurisich, author of the two-hit performance for the first six innings, was taken out in the seventh when the Cubs filled the bases on singles by Bob Scheffing and Cliff Abernethy and a walk to Bill Nicholson. Fred Schmidt relieved Jurisich with the walk to Dominic Dallesandro which forced across Chicago's first run, and was touched by a fluke single by Peanuts Lowry, a double by Eddie Waitkus and a walk to Andy Pafko before giving way to Oscar Judd.

After Judd fanned Phil Cavarretta, Charles Schanz took over to force across the winning run with a walk to pinch hitter Marvin Rickert. Schanz struck out Abernethy with the bases loaded, retiring the side.

Philadelphia collected five of its nine hits in the first two innings off Lade, with Harry Walker contributing two singles to the attack. Wyse and Hank Borowy shut out the Phillies the rest of the distance.
